

A Guide to Select the Best ESA Dog Breeds and Sizes

If you want to get an ESA dog then you are in the right place. Dogs have long been known as the best friends of a human so I think they are the best ESA that you can get.

But getting an ESA dog can be so confusing. There are so many cute little dog breeds that you can hardly decide which one to keep as your furry companion.

Well, you are in luck. I have made a list of the dog breeds that are perfect as an ESA Letter.

So, if you are confused, then just have a look at this list and select the one you like most.

Breed #1: Golden Retriever

Everyone loves a good old-fashioned retriever. Golden retrievers can make some of the best ESA as they are so friendly.

Their nature is very gentle and they are very, very co-operative. This means that you can easily train them.

On top of that, they are very patient and can prove to be great companions to people with mental illnesses.

They are usually 22 to 24 inches in height.

Breed #2: Corgi

Corgis are the favorite animal of the Queen of England but they can be so much more than that. They are smart and friendly too.

Yes, corgis mesh well with humans. And they are also good for people of any age.

But these creatures are very active. So, if you have ADHD then these dogs are best for you.

Corgis are usually 10 to 12 inches in height.

Breed #3: Yorkshire Terrier

This is another breed of small dogs that are good as an ESA. They are so small that they only come up to 7 inches in height.

But what they don't have in size, they have in their hearts.

Corgis are exceptionally affectionate creatures and they are incredibly loyal too.

They give you so much love that it will put the mind of any person to rest.

Breed #4: German Shepherd

Ok, so this one may seem like a weird choice because they are mostly seen as working dogs but German Shepherds can be good ESAs too.

How so? Well, they are intelligent and want to please you.

This makes them good companions and they are easy to train because they want to learn.

They are mostly 22 to 26 inches in height.

Breed #5: Collie

Collies are herding dogs which are great as an ESA. This is because they just want to make sure that their human is happy and satisfied.

They are very smart emotionally which means that they quickly provide comfort when their humans are sad.

This is a great quality for an ESA. Also, they love to exercise so you will get out of your house a lot.

Collies have the same height as German Shepherds.

Breed #6: Chihuahua

These little dogs are usually seen as crazy little creatures. Well, they can be but they can also be trained to be a little less excitable.

Also, they provide humans with great snuggles and are very easy to travel with.

They can easily be trained to become good emotional support animals. They love their playtime and won't even require much exercise.

These small dogs are only 5 to 8 inches in height.

Now, you can get an ESA dog!

I'm sure that it is much easier for you to select an ESA dog now that you know the best ones. So, if you want emotional support dog letter then you will have to get an ESA letter from a professional.

This means that you will need to find a website that can get you in contact with one.

So, get started on your search immediately.
